

One More Drink

One more drink
and one more dollar
to relieve my grieving mind
Of the pains that I suffer
Dealing with this lonely time.
I can't make my mind recover
All the glories of the past
But one more drink
And one more dollar
I can make this stupor last.

One more drink
And one more dollar
To make my mind depart
From the cold empty feelings
That once was a living heart
I know that this solution
Isn't really worth a dime
But one more drink
And one more dollar
I can sit and stall for time.

One more drink
And one more dollar
It's the only way I see
To survive the endless torment
That once was a happy me
I know that I can't forever
Go on living in this way
But with one more drink
And one more dollar
I can last another day.

One more drink
And one more dollar
To relieve my grieving mind
Of the pains that I suffer
Dealing with this lonely time
I can't make my mind recover
All the glories of my past
But with one more drink
And one more dollar
I can make this stupor last.
